WASHINGTON, July 3.—A Fourth of July more oppressive and sweltering than any for a decade is the prophecy made by weather bureau officials to-night after a careful study of the weather maps.

With reports of 104 degrees temperature in four widely separated cities, together with a score of other cities broiling in a temperature of 100 or higher, no hope for relief could be discovered. Scores of deaths and hundreds of prostrations have been reported.

Local thunder storms may alleviate suffering in some sections, but they will be showers by blessed chance, for no indications of rain are anywhere to be seen. The heat is taking a heavy toll of death, according to reports and the suffering is increased by a drought that practically has been unbroken except in the south Atlantic and east Gulf states, where the temperatures are moderate.

At the weather bureau here the mercury reached the 99 mark at 2 o'clock. While two hours later the bureau thermometer on the street level showed a temperature of 101. There were two fatalities. Nineteen persons, who were overcome, received treatment in hospitals. Many others were given private attention.

Louisville, Ky.: St. Joseph, Mo.: Davenport, Ia., and Yuma, Ariz., were reached by the highest ever recorded temperature. In like temperature being also recorded in Albany, N. Y.; Kansas City, Mo.; Columbus, O.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; Concordia, Kan.; Dubuque, Ia.; Des Moines, and Ercano, Cal.

For the first time in its history, Hartford scored 100, that record also being equaled at Fort Wayne, Ind.; Cincinnati, O.; Springfield, Ill.; Harrisburg, Pa.; Chicago, and St. Louis, Mo.; Indianapolis, Toledo, Oklahoma City, Omaha and Fort Smith, Ark.

Rockville, Ont., which yesterday held the record at 103, dropped to 98, along with New York, Philadelphia, Northfield, Vt.; Pittsburg, Lynchburg, Va.; Wichita, Kan., and Grand Rapids, Mich. Even Montreal and Quebec thermometers registered 94, and Father Point, at the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, showed 92.

The intense heat was general from coast to coast, except there was some slight moderation over the Northwest and Rocky mountain states and in parts of the Great Lakes region. There were scattered showers in some of the southern states, in the Rockies and in the northern plains states.

48 Deaths in 36 Hours at Chicago. CHICAGO, July 3.—Chicago sweltered in its hottest day of 1911 today, and the hottest July 3 in the history of the weather bureau.

Following the hottest night ever experienced in Chicago, the temperature climbed steadily, and at 2:45 o'clock the thermometer in the weather bureau tower officially registered 95.5 degrees, while at the street level the temperature officially was recorded at 103 degrees.

Twelve deaths and one suicide brought the list of heat victims of the last 36 hours to 49, of which 28 were babies.

His mind believed to have been affected by the heat, G. A. Wright, 40, leaped over the railing of the fifteenth floor of the Masonic temple and was crushed to death on the floor of the rotunda on the main floor, a distance of 200 feet.

Parks and bathing drew thousands to escape the heat, while in the tenement districts the suffering was intense.

Hundreds are sleeping on porches, sidewalks and on the roofs tonight.

103 at Beverly. BOSTON, July 3.—All heat records were shattered by the hot wave which encircled New England today. Three deaths and more than 50 prostrations were reported in Boston and in suburbs, while scores of persons in other parts of New England were overcome.

The White mountains of New Hampshire, famed for the cooling breezes, offered little relief, for at some points the mercury registered 96 in the shade. At Huntington, Vt., the weather bureau reported a temperature of 100, exceeding by four degrees the highest recorded in the 10 years that local records have been kept. In Boston, the official mark was 103 at 2 o'clock this afternoon. This was half a degree hotter than the record of September 7, 1881, the highest ever before recorded by the weather bureau.

Beverly, the summer capital, sweltered in a temperature of 103 degrees. The family of the President, high above the town and favorably situated

All the kiddies in town have stiff necks this morning. Some of them have sore muscles, too. Practically all indulged in thrilling chases after the balloons released from the Gazette office last night.

SALESBURG, Ill., July 3.—Thomas Downs was the first Fourth of July victim here. His foot was blown off today by a premature explosion of a gasp can.

CEAR RAPIDS, Ia., July 3.—The first death here as a result of premature celebration of the Fourth, came when Emory Smith of Iowa City, 14 years old, died as the result of a gunshot wound in the leg. Smith was examining the sun in preparation for the celebration, tomorrow, when it exploded.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Irene Roberts, 4 years old, was possibly fatally burned today when her dress caught fire from fireworks which she was lighting. One failed to explode, but flashed as she picked it up, setting her dress afire.

SAFETY AND SANE MEASURES. PIONICS AND OUTINGS. FEATURE THE DAY.

Band Concerts and Ball Game Contribute to Celebration.

With numerous picnics, band concerts, baseball games, golf and various other athletic attractions, Fourth of July will be celebrated today in the open air by nearly everyone in Colorado Springs. As there will be no set general celebration in the city, many picnics to the mountains, in addition to those of fraternal, labor and other organizations, have been planned.

Business houses will be closed and everywhere the flag will float in the cool summer breeze.

Among the larger outings will be the picnic of the Junior Order of American Mechanics to Rosemont; that of the carpenters union at Stratton park; that of the Woodmen of the World to Green Mountain Falls and the annual picnic of the German Lutheran Sunday school on the picnic grounds between North and South Cheyenne canyons.

Special features of all the picnics will be athletic events, for which valuable prizes are offered. At the Colorado Springs Golf club, a tournament will be played over 18 holes.

Band Concerts. The Colorado Midland band will play this afternoon and evening at Stratton park. The two programs will include patriotic and military selections suitable to the day. Aside from the music and the hum of many voices, the park will be quiet, as no fireworks will be allowed there or in the canyons.

For those for whom music has no charms, a rattling good game of baseball is offered at the Zoo park between the Rio Grandes of Denver and Coughlin's animals. In the evening, the hearts of those who love good fireworks will be delighted with the pyrotechnic displays at the Zoo park.

Not to be outdone by their larger neighbor, the smaller towns near Colorado Springs have planned fitting celebrations for the birthday of the nation. Calhan will put on her gala attire and will hold an old-time western barbecue with lots of good things to eat and an address this afternoon by the Hon. John B. Stephen. At Wray, on the other hand, the celebration will be a "Homecoming Day."

In special recognition of the fact that there are many thousands of former Colorado Springs residents now living in all parts of this and other states, the executive committee of the carnival in honor of the city's birthday, has named Wednesday, August 2, as "Homecoming Day."

KEN J. RAYBURN

District Judge Owen has taken under consideration the motion for summary judgment of the city of Colorado Springs to certify to the causes for the revocation of the liquor license of the Spaulding hotel. The case was argued in the district court yesterday morning and a decision will probably be given next Monday.

It is alleged by the City Attorney, McKesson, that the plaintiffs' affidavits show that they are not entitled to relief, and that John C. Leonard, lessee of the Spaulding hotel, knew of the provisions of the liquor ordinance when he took out his license and that the City Council had power to revoke the license at its discretion.

LEAVES FOR CANON CITY

U. E. Peabody, for five months manager of the Green hotel, will leave today for Canon City where he will manage the Denton hotel. Mr. Peabody came to Colorado Springs from McFarland, Kan. He is an experienced hotel man and had been identified with the Harvey eating system in the east.

Here the matter was adjourned by the payment of $1 in cash to each. Klemmerson secured his balloon near the corner of St. Vrain street and Cascade avenue, and was immensely pleased with the 25 packs of fireworks as a reward. He revealed faithfully to be careful in their use.

The balloon with the tag good for a five-pound box of chocolates floated north for a time, then struck another current of air and started south, finally landing on Coallita street, where Oregon picked it up.

Two Boys "Come Near"

Two boys who were "also-rans" but who nevertheless came near getting a prize, were Foster Crawford, 220 East Monument street, and Don Fawcett, 177 North Commercial street. Crawford, who was in the balloon which was later found with the year's subscription tag, but lost in the maze of roofs and tree branches. This was the one later found in Rowell.

All the breathless, happy boys who came into the office and were looking for the tag, and "it was great fun" and, whether they were successful or not, expressed themselves to the best of their ability in praise of the Gazette's generosity and unique method of giving a safe and sane Fourth of July.

The most valuable tag that good for $5, if presented at the Gazette of this office before July 10, was not brought in last night, but is undoubtedly reposing securely in the chubby fist of some youngster, who is waiting the first opportunity to present it. When last seen, the balloon was far up in the air, and whirling dizzily about in the grasp of the different air currents.

The case of Canada, cherishing attachment to the mother country without exercising complete independence. Certain it is that the lesson we taught England took the heart and in her colonial policy she continued to tighten the bonds which she had laid upon her colonies, until now they have no weight, and are merely nerves of affection from a mother to children, evincing an authority that, however great in form, is in fact, in the wisdom of the mother country, one of only nominal restrictions.

The war of 1812 might certainly have been avoided by arbitration. The questions there presented were questions all of which have been settled by the judgment of mankind, in favor of our side of the controversy.

The war with Mexico, though there is some dispute over this, was one of the questions capable of solution by an impartial tribunal.

"Whether the Civil war could have been avoided is a very difficult question to answer. When slavery has become embedded in the social fiber of a country it is possible that only an action by a war knife can remove the cancer.

"Nor shall I attempt to answer a similar question as to the Spanish war. It is one of those instances of internal dissension like the Civil war and yet I believe the submission of the issues to a tribunal might have averted Spain's treatment of Cuba in such a way that we could have avoided a resort to arms.

Innocent People Suffer

The awful consequences of two heavily armed countries meeting under modern conditions of war are great deterrent of war; but the irresponsibility of men claiming to be patriots and desiring to overturn existing governments where law and order are not well established has led to a great deal of guerrilla warfare and to the suffering of innocent people, who find no principle involved in the two contending parties except that of ambition for power.

"Much of this kind of work has occurred in South and Central America. And in the degree of guardianship which the United States must feel over the republics of this hemisphere in maintaining their integrity against European invasion, we ought to welcome every opportunity which gives us a legitimate instrument by which we can make less probable such internecine strife.

"In the assertion of that sort of guardianship we have to be careful to avoid the charge, which is always made by the selfish, that we are seeking our aggrandizement. It is an unfounded charge, for we only power its territory. We have enough. But we have been able to find our way in five or more instances of recent date because of our attitude as an older brother of these small governments.

Hopes for Arbitration Success

"For the instant settling of peace and as an example to all the world of the possibilities of the use of arbitration we have invited England and France and Germany to make a treaty for the arbitration of all differences of an international character that in their nature can be adjudicated. We have left out those exceptions which have heretofore been excluded from arbitrable controversies, questions of a nation's honor and of its vital interests. Of course, I cannot say with positiveness that these treaties will all be made and entered into. I can only say that the prospect of an agreement with the executive of one of the countries is reasonably sure, and we have every hope as to the other two."

The President told the bankers that the Aldrich plan could not be regarded as a political measure and should have the support of men of all political parties. He said, in part:

"I have said that upon three issues I can appeal to all political parties. With respect to arbitration, certainly that has not become a party question. All are in favor of peace and all are in favor of instrumentalities by which peace may be honorably secured. In respect to reciprocity with Canada, I am sure that it can be reconciled to the most orthodox Republican tariff views, and I am equally convinced no Democrat ought to oppose it because, according to his view, the reduction of duties must be a step in the right direction.

"So with respect to the proposed new system of banking and currency. There is nothing in it that is its nature is partisan. The commission from which it comes is composed almost equally of Democrats and Republicans. It involves nothing of the partisan discussions over the collapse of monetary standards which have vexed both political parties.

"I earnestly hope we may all approach the subject with no prejudice against the resolution proposed and with our minds alert to the necessities for reform and keen to see the advantages which the new system offers. I do not mean by what I say that I am not in favor of the reduction of a party government, for I am a party man.

"I believe the solidarity of parties is necessary in order to secure a conservative and stable administration by the government. In no other way can the public position of the nation and of 15,000,000 voters be interpreted into law and enforced.

"Congress and the national government are made responsible for a great many conditions prevailing among the people with which they have nothing whatever to do. But the government is directly responsible to the people for the condition of business when it seriously injures by defective monetary and banking system.

"I earnestly commend not only to bankers, but to newspaper men and to intelligent laboring men, to business men, and to farmers, a close consideration of the plan and I am very certain, after they have sufficiently digested its comparatively simple problems, that they will see that its operation will tend to the encouragement of a banking equilibrium, to the maintenance of normal business conditions, to the constant meeting of the payroll and to the diminution of cost of disposition of farmers' crops."

So-Called Zealots Cannot Use Religion to Cloak Business

DENVER, July 3.—The state supreme court today delivered a blow to quick doctors and all so-called "zealots" practicing without a license when it affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of the people against Edward C. Smith, divine healer of Denver, holding that he could not use religion as a cloak in his business of making money. Smith claimed that his treatment was a natural one, a gift from the Almighty, that he restored people to health and cured many diseases that medical men could not. Smith was convicted in the district court and fined $1,000. The upper court said:

"The defendant testified that he belonged to the church of the divine scientific healing mission, a corporation; that he was a preacher of the gospel and a healer of the sick, held services Sunday afternoons at Howe hall, where he presided and cured the sick; treated the afflicted without the use of drugs or a knife."

Justice Galloway, who delivered the opinion said that the statute had nothing to do with the church, which Smith claimed was attacking his religion. Continuing, the court said:

"This does not, however, authorize one under cover of religion or a religious exercise to go into healing commercially for hire, using prayer as the curative agency or treatment. Religion can not be used as a shield to cover a business undertaking. The law was enacted in a business venture not a religious exercise. The practice of medicine, defined by our statute, means the practice of the healing art commercially regardless of the curative agency employed."

"The commercial practice of healing by prayer, followed as a money-making venture or occupation is the practice of medicine within the plain meaning of the statute."

Chief Justice Campbell concurred in the opinion, while Justice Musser specially concurred in the decision.

Members of the state board of health were jubilant over the result of the decision.

Murderer of Four Men Released From Prison

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 3.—Clyde Mattox, who is known to have slain four men and has been accused of killing a fifth, and who was famed as an outlaw in the territorial days of Oklahoma, was released from the state prison today and his citizenship restored after he had served a term of 12 years for manslaughter.

The sentence which Mattox was serving was for slaying Lincoln Sweney, a cattleman, in a saloon brawl at Ponca City. He was paroled by Governor Haskell in March 1908, but in January 1910 he became involved in a fight and his parole was revoked.

Just after Indian Territory had been opened for settlement in 1906, Mattox killed a man and for this crime he was sentenced to hang. Through the efforts of the prisoner's mother, President Harrison was induced to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. Later President McKinley pardoned Mattox.

While acting as deputy United States Marshal a few months after his release, Mattox shot and killed a negro, killed a white man who is said to have seen the second negro killed went hunting with Mattox one day and he has never since been seen.

EXHUME BODY OF MEMBER OF WASHINGTON'S STAFF

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The body of Col. John O. Smith, a member of the staff of General Washington, was exhumed today, together with the body of his wife, at Liberty Hall, Culpeper, Va., and both will be reburied Thursday in Arlington National cemetery. A suitable monument is to be erected over the grave by the descendants of Colonel Green and impressive military exercises will mark its dedication.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—That Germany will not be far behind Great Britain in her acceptance of the principle of unrestricted arbitration of all issues, including those involving national honor is regarded here as practically certain in view of recent developments. When Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, departs for Berlin it is said he will be charged with a new presentation of the question that will insure favorable consideration.

From the first the German foreign office has looked doubtfully upon the proposition because it felt that while Germany, under its terms, would be absolutely forced to submit an issue to arbitration, the American government could avoid such responsibility because the United States was privileged to pass upon the issue. A hasty reading of the copy of the treaty supplied to the foreign office confirmed this belief, hence, there was no manifestation by Germany of its purpose to press the negotiations.

It appears that there has been a radical misunderstanding on this important point. The treaty provides that even after the action of the Senate on a "pro-let" or upon a definition of the exact limits of the matters to be arbitrated, the issue shall not go to actual arbitration until there has been an exchange of notes between the two governments and an objection by either to the form would result in stopping the proceedings.

This point has been made clear to the German ambassador and it is now confidently expected the way has been cleared for admission of Germany to the convention.

Government Wins Nine Land Suits; Gets $35,547

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Nine suits for depredations upon the public domain were won by the government last month through the efforts of the field force of the general land office. Through judgments and compromises, the government recovered from this source $35,547, of which $13,318 was paid. The criminal procedure netted eight convictions, including timber trespass, conspiracy and unlawful inclosure.

Either More Potatoes or More Money, Say Laborers at Moraine

Should the price of potatoes still continue its skyward flight, the city of Colorado Springs will be compelled to increase the wages of the laborers engaged in construction work on the water system at Lake Moraine. The laborers, who are paid $2.50 a day, for eight hours work, now pay 25 cents a meal to the cook who feeds them by contract. Now these laborers demand potatoes, and lots of them, three times a day. Potatoes now cost, delivered at Seven Lakes, $6 a 100-pound sack.

According to the woman who conducts the boarding camp, she cannot serve potatoes at 6 cents a pound with a meal that costs two bits. The point is clear, even to the laborers who can only pay 25 cents a meal on their present wages, and who want the spuds to which they have been accustomed. Hence, with the situation as it is, either wages must go up or the price of potatoes go down.

In the meantime, Mayor Avery, as head of the water department, prays that the potato "corner"—if there be one—will soon break.

TEJON AT KIOWA.

Unless the residents of Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region take more interest in the annual flower show given by the El Paso County Horticultural society than has been the case in recent years, this summer's show of the society may be the last one to be held, according to Dr. W. W. Arnold, president. Dr. Arnold says that the show, this year, to be given at Stratton park, August 10, 11 and 12, will be the "best ever," and he hopes the people will show their appreciation of the real boost given property values here by the society's efforts by attending the show.

In addition to the flower show this year there will be a doll and baby show. Secretary Fred F. Horn, whose office is in the society's room at the court house, will receive entries for its home premises contest up to July 15.

After being out of the county jail ten days, Robert Martin, colored, yesterday commenced a sentence of 10 days for stealing a crosscut saw, the property of Henry Orr. He was trying to sell the saw at a second-hand store when arrested. Justice Dunnington sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail.

Charged with malicious mischief, James L. Owen, colored, was fined $10 and costs in Justice Gowdy's court yesterday.

Deputy Great Sachem James Lyons and staff raised up the following chiefs last night at Robbins hall: Sachem, R. Byron Hunt, assistant sachem, Albert Elbert, Junior Sachem, Charles J. The officers of Westamoo council No. 27, Degree of Pocahontas, were also installed last night by Mrs. Mary Ginter, past deputy pocahontas. Following are the officers: Pocahontas, Mrs. Cora J. Radley; wampum, Mrs. M. Olin; prophetess, Mrs. Minnie Elbert; keeper of records, Mrs. Stella Park; keeper of wampum, Miss Myrae Mercer. Mrs. Mary Ginter was elected representative to the state great council.

At the close of the meetings last night refreshments were served.

Apparently not satisfied with obtaining $10,000.75 from the safe in the Greeley postoffice Saturday night, robbers tried again Sunday night to crack the fragile strongbox, but were unsuccessful. The safe is the same which figured in the robbery at Colorado City over a year ago, when several hundred dollars in stamps was taken. Postmaster Gray of Greeley, whose official count has verified the belief that the robbers secured a large sum Saturday, has protested against having the safe in Greeley.

No clue to the robbers has been found. How they gained entrance Sunday night is a mystery.

5 TRAINS

The Short Line will handle five trains this morning, the passengers being largely made up of tourists and delegates to the different conventions soon to meet on the Pacific coast. One special train will carry a delegation to the N. E. A. convention from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and another will handle 150 girls from Radnor college, Nashville, Tenn.

The passengers who took the Cripple Creek trip, Sunday, had the unusual experience of traveling above the clouds after getting to the head of the Cheyenne canon. Many of the eastern tourists on the train expressed their satisfaction at being able to travel in comfort, amid such delightful scenery, while their relatives and friends in the east were sweating at temperatures around the 100 mark.

Several thousand Woodmen from all over the state will take part, and the drill team of Colorado Springs Camp No. 5 will try for the prizes offered in the contest. Many events and an interesting series of entertainments at the Mineral Palace, followed by a grand picnic at Minnequa lake, will be features.

Wife of Former Priest Claims He Is Feigning Death to Avoid Divorce

Co-operate With Santa Fe Railroad and Excellent Results Follow First Year's Experiment.

L. L. Johnson of Amarillo, Tex., assistant agricultural demonstrator of the Santa Fe railroad, is visiting his relatives here for a few days, but leaves tomorrow for the south, as at this time of year he cannot be away from his duties for long.

Last February Mr. Johnson, who formerly was in business here, accepted a place with Prof. H. M. Bainer, agricultural demonstrator for the road, and has been assigned to a region that extends for 1,000 miles between Amarillo, Clovis, N. M., and down to Sweetwater, Tex. It is one of the driest sections in the United States, but Mr. Johnson is enthusiastic over what they are accomplishing.

The Santa Fe is determined to make that semiarid land fruitful. If dry farming practices and theories can do it, and Professor Bainer seems to be accomplishing it. The experiments this year are diffused over thousands of miles, and include more than 5,000 acres planted.

This is the way it is accomplished: Last February a train was run through the region, and the farmers were fully informed what was to be undertaken. Volunteers, or "co-operativists," as they are termed, were asked for. They were requested to donate 10 acres of their land and to cultivate it under instruction from the professor and his men, the company agreeing to donate the seed. All product raised belongs to the farmer, except some small part of the wheat and oats, which the company takes for distribution among others in the region where it was grown. The company is not trying to make money, except through increased prosperity of the farmers.

Many Farmers Volunteer.

There were 150 volunteers, but not all of them confined their efforts to 10 acres. One man, with 300 acres, is farming his entire holding under the direction of the demonstrators. The farmers put in crops after their soil had been tested. They have everything planted that the soil and general climatic conditions call for—cotton, oats, milo, peanuts, etc. The two parties to the contract first agreed on the crop. The demonstrators keep in complete touch with the farmers, know if they had rain or if anything unusual is occurring, and once a month, and sometimes often, visit the growing crop. The personal equation enters and the consultations are deep and thoughtful.

The result of all this is that the interest is growing; in fact, bounding into an immense enthusiasm. The region has practically burned out for the last two years, but the experimental tracts are now standing up green and beautiful. Next year hundreds of farmers will plant their land according to the Santa Fe directions. The women, particularly, have become enthusiastic.

Each farmer keeps a complete record from the time that he started, including the soil tests, rainfall, manner of caring for the crop—such as plowing, harrowing, etc. After the crop is harvested, they will know all about it: what it cost, what should have been done that was not done, and what was done that should not have been done. This sounds like an intricate thing, but it fits right into dry farming experiments, says Johnson.

This is the first year of the experiments, and such a carefully worked out plan has never been tried before. It will be watched with interest by all who are seeking to create an agriculture in the regions where the rainfall is less than 20 inches in the growing season.

N. LOCAL OPTION CASE

Judge Owen Overrules Defendants' Demurrer to Complaint of "Drys"

Deciding that it is within the jurisdiction of the district court to try the Colorado City local option case, Judge James Owen yesterday morning overruled the defendants' demurrer to the complaint of John Wiley against the officials of Colorado City, praying for an injunction restraining the council from granting liquor licenses on the grounds that the town was not by a fraudulent vote. The decision of Judge Owen means that the case will be heard on its merits. The defendants were given 15 days in which to file an answer to the complaint.

According to the ruling of Judge Owen, the Colorado City local option election was not properly an election but was primarily to enact a law by the vote of the people. As such action it came within the jurisdiction of the district court to try the case. The right of the council to institute the case, according to Judge Owen, was based on the constitutional right of every voter to see that the laws are properly passed. The court took issue with counsel for the plaintiff who asserted that a saloon is a nuisance, declaring that the saloon itself, if properly conducted, does not constitute a nuisance.

In the absence of counsel for the Mayor, Judge Owen did not deliver a decision in the mandamus suit of Attorney S. H. Kinsey against Hamble, as mayor of Colorado City, to compel the officials of Colorado City to pay Kinsey for acting as special counsel in the Wiley case. The decision is ready, however, and will be filed in a few days.

Wife of Former Priest Claims He Is Feigning Death to Avoid Divorce

James Ambrose Ryan, former priest and now defendant in a divorce suit brought by the wife, to whom he was married in this city on January 30, 1903, by former Justice A. P. Toombs, is again in the limelight.

According to a clipping received by Mrs. Ryan in Denver Saturday, her husband died of pneumonia poisoning in California, on June 22. The clipping was enclosed in an envelope and addressed by a hand, which the woman believes to be that of her husband. According to her, the clipping was merely a ruse to cause her to leave the suit for divorce.

Ryan came to Denver as a priest to the Rev. Father William O'Donnell, pastor of St. Leo's. There he met Susan Moran, a 17-year-old girl, and fell in love with her. After a short courtship, the two eloped to this city and were married here. On this account, Ryan was unfrocked by the Catholic church. After the marriage, Ryan treated his wife brutally; she claims, and left her within six months after the wedding. His death notice is the first news that his wife has had of him in a year.

Don's Coffee

Freshly Roasted Coffee

The full flavor

The full, rich flavor which means so much in the drinking qualities of coffee is at its best in freshly roasted coffee.

The fine fragrance given off by roasted coffee, is this flavor escaping into the air.

If left in the open air a month it will take five pounds of coffee to make as many cups as would four pounds freshly roasted.

That's why we talk freshly roasted coffee. That's why we go to such pains to protect our coffee from air and hands.

It makes ten cups more to the pound.

DO THESE THINGS INTEREST YOU?

Do you or your children ever drink soda water or eat ice cream? Look what chances you face. Soda-fountain syrup often contains benzoate. Much commercial ice cream is made of glue. Such sweets will kill your children. The story on page 79 of Pearson's Magazine for July explains the zinc and dodge.

With the initiative, would we have strong regulation to prevent foodstuffs being stored for high prices? If the Recalc could be applied to liquor, what would happen? Why don't we have these laws? Do you want them? Look on page 87 of Pearson's Magazine for July.

Thirty thousand war veterans, disabled and aged, live in Soldiers' homes. The homes are beautiful on the outside, but inside look inside. Jail fare is better. These old soldiers are shamefully treated. Look inside the homes. Read the story on page 3 of Pearson's Magazine for July.

Are you a baseball fan? Look at Umpire Billy Evans's story on page 40 of Pearson's Magazine for July. He describes famous disputes, and shows how umpires look upon players. It's a story that will do fans good. It's a truly good baseball story.

Do you like good stories? Then you'll like Pearson's Magazine for July. It has eight rattling good complete stories—romance, mystery and adventure, eight stories which make entertainment that is entertainment. Great complete stories of the time-debating kind.

The way to get a farm is shown by Governor Easley of Missouri on page 63 of Pearson's Magazine for July. Mr. Hockley explains how the city poor may get farms of their own, and in doing that shows dissatisfied farmers that their own farms can be made to pay.

Another tale of the Apaches of New York is told by Alfred Henry Lewis, beginning on page 113 of Pearson's Magazine for July. This is the story of Little Bow Kun, the Chinese rose, and the New York Gun-Men. It is a first-class "police" tale.

Fifteen years ago a few men were struggling hard to make one automobile run. To-day thousands of men make thousands of cars every year. That's some development. And they all run. The story of the first cars and their makers is on page 129 of Pearson's Magazine for July.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 3.—The long-expected ruling of the interstate commerce commission on the freight rates was the chief dominating influence which brought about an abrupt change in prices on the stock exchange. The weakness of the coal market spread to the remainder of the list, and most of the leading stocks lost from 1 to 2 points. The stock market did not heed the government report on cotton, in spite of the highly favorable character, and stocks of the cotton-carrying roads did not move on its appearance.

Another indirect influence is the latest phase in the so-called Moroccan affairs, which depressed all the European exchanges. For the first time in many weeks practically all American shares were lower in London, with declines of a point or more in Canadian, Pacific, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and Erie first preferred. Paris reported a decided break in rent and the Berlin bourse was quite unsettled. London sales in this market were estimated at 20,000 shares. Germany again purchased the bulk of the South African gold delivered at London, $2,500,000 of the total of $3,000,000.

Weakness of the Harriman stocks ascribed the decreases in the earnings of the road for the year just closed compared with the previous period. It is not disputed, however, that both roads have earned their dividends with considerable to spare. In the industrial group there was a general advance. United States Steel, but that stock suffered less than other speculative favorites.

There were no signs of improvement in the bond market as a result of July disbursements of about $300,000,000. Prices were easier. Total sales, par value, $1,815,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

THE CAR AND THE HIGHWAY

Thaddeus S. Dayton, in Harper's Weekly. Nothing has given so far-reaching an impetus to the movement for road-building as the automobile. It has caused states to begin constructing systems of good roads, which will, in time, be joined into a national network of highways, faster than and as enduring as the highways bound together the Roman empire.

S. T. JOHNSON

the famous valley of the Nile not excepted, this country has been so productive as has the Valley of the Grand. It is well called the "GARDEN SPOT OF THE NATION." It will shortly be the market place of the world for fruit; this is not theory, it is indicated by facts.

A combination of circumstances makes it possible at this time to offer some of the choicest tracts in the valley (for which we are exclusive agents), either in TRADE OR SALE. Here is what we can consider in trade: Real-estate property, business property, stocks of merchandise. Investigate—it may be an opportunity to better yourself.

We have two tracts, which if sold within the next five days, can be bought for less than the land sold for in its raw state, four years ago, and they are now beautiful three year-old trees. Three magnificent farms, now when the iron is in, these two tracts can be sold for a profit of $100.00 per acre. We can prove it.
